Calm, composed and cool, this is what one feels about this guy at first sight. Alas-they have a shock in store when they get to know him better. Poka sits glued to a video game for hours. His major aim in life is to complete a game, even if he has to put night-outs to do the same. He will be best remembered by his wingies for having 5 alarm clocks all over his bed before sleeping. Poka's female following is a big story; his soft corner for his PS mate is not a secret. He will also be remembered by KG inmates for pouring a jug full of water into a bowl of freshly prepared paneer as a sign of protest; then what the chief warden did to him is a story too well known!

If TIMES OF INDIA conducts a poll on "Who would be the next PM, if Shah Rukh and A. B. Vajpayee were contesting and if 1% of people voted for Shah Rukh you would surely find this guy in them. You can easily be his victim when he claims that he has seen a white crow in his room the night before. Such would be his practical jokes. His life: a cool chap, so generous that he forgets the amount he lent to his friends, good batsman, a good friend to one and all.

Loved ones call him 'Chi-Chi Baby'; others simply 'Chiru'. Meet the highly energetic, flamboyant (???) soul who aims to join the civil services or take the shortest route to fame. An ardent listener of melodies and a mighty arguer of almost everything, he dreams to travel around the world. Though the youngest among his pals he looks the other way round (just kidding!!!). Vinod, better known as (.C) (DOT C) as he is supposed to be one of the best C programmers among his friends, finally landed up getting a EEE dual. Baddy champ, h-com (2nd year), NV-sec (3rd year), an elite member of BIG BULLS, he is a great enthu guy who always believes that he could sleep better in REFLI than in his room. He thinks that eve teasing is one of his best hobbies. This guy started flirting with girls right from the first day of his BITSian life but because of the big kela he got in his Freshers period he couldn't continue. Now he doesn't speak with girls but he has the whole data-base of the girls in M.B.

This gregarious guy with a golden heart charms you with his innocent smile. An ardent thespian, he has made his presence felt, via the printed media and the stage. A soft corner for a certain Chemicalite, ended in one-way traffic. A practical economist, he also understood the intricacies of chips, be it made of silicon or potatoes. Known for his huge appetite, he is usually found in C'not or ANC. In these days of following the herd, this chap stands apart with his plans of entrepreneurship.

That's because he's a master at delegating work to his "dear friends" and get away with it, claiming himself to be a stud at management! The only work which he doesn't want anybody else to do for him, is his visit to MB, for a so-called "Best Pal"!! Another side of him is an active DOPYite, who's loved by everyone for his charming and friendly nature. This ECO with EEE stud aims to increase his assets with a Masters in Business Administration!

Would you believe if I say that this guy searched for his spectacles for an hour and a half while wearing them on his nose? One evening he went on a date with 100 bucks in his pocket. But incredibly he forgot that he got 100 in his pocket and started begging everyone to spare for him. Better known as Einstien to everyone, he supposedly flirts with CHOM girls, but never in my Bitsian life did I see him with one. He is (PALLAVI/ARCHANA)philic and always wanted them to come and speak to him.

This 'Bong' from Nagpur is hard to ignore. Be it the Hindi newsletters or the wing, you can hear him for miles. An affinity for select print media, which later graduated to the audio-visual, was what set him apart since his first year. A meticulous guy, he is one on whom you can depend. A dislike for water manifests itself in alarming proportions during winter. Sketching and painting- both of which he excels in, are his hobbies. Don't trust him with your pen though- he is a compulsive pen-collector. An all-rounder, he will excel in whichever field he decides to work in.

This guy has the figure of a dream boy. This of course refers to girls who have ambiguous taste. With his cute and small face, here small means really small, this charming guy will always be found next to anyone who has a problem, especially girls. He is a die hard fan of chiru, and has a passion for churches. Go with a problem and he will solve it for you.

Chubby cheeks, but a fitness freak. Dimple chin, ever wants to be thin. 'Somebody's (?????)' 'pet... Wondering what happened to the good ole' nursery rhyme? Relax!! That's Geetha Subramanian! This stud girl of our wing whose attachment to POE class can't be attributed "only" to the fact that she is an economics student, is a goddess to all the music lovers and M&B lovers of the wing. She is the dictionary of the most "Sophisticated language" and is more than glad to impart her knowledge to her wingies. This impulsive Ricky has a collection of...beauty accessories, which will make any girl jealous.

Think of "Snow White" and Baati's the first name that strikes your mind. She's sensible, innocent, soft spoken and a perfect combination of beauty and brains. A great help in times of need, she's the pet of her lecturers. This "Ice Maiden" has lot many secret admirers (especially BITSians). We wish this cute adorable friend of ours, a bright future and happiness in the days to come.

An 'eco-friendly' guy, he craves for sumptuous food and is known for his reposeful light-hearted lifestyle. He is romantic, but sadly has difficulty expressing love. Trying to get a lucky break, this Capricorn had a narrow escape and was back to square one even before he could realise what had happened. A good friend, he never loses control of his emotions. Polite and soft spoken, his favourite quote is a paradox 'I love my enemies (they love me too) and friends hate me'.
